SUMMER SNAP SHOTS.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS PREPARED FOR THE PRESS.

Comings and Goings in the Social World. An Unsuppressed Record of Local Happenings—Accidents and Incidents of the Week Now Closing.

D. M. Lowe of Hopland was in town last Sunday.

L. H. Bollinger of Philo was in town the early part of the week.

Mr. Fuller of Manchester died Saturday morning last, aged 86 years.

J. D. Dicken of the Tomki was in town on a business visit Wednesday.

Walter Faught of Lakeport is visiting friends and relatives in this city.

Archie McClure has accepted a position in J. H. Barker's hardware store.

L. A. Morgan, the wellknown banker of Mendocino, was in town during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Heeser and Mrs. Beaver of Mendocino came over Monday evening.

Considerable hay is being shipped from Lake county via the railroad from this city.

J. C. Clow of Anderson valley was in town on a business visit the early part of the week.

A. Switzer of Westport and D. L. Ball of the Albion were in town on business Tuesday.

Miss Mamie Richardson returned Saturday night from a week's visit to San Francisco.

Mrs. Frank Shattuck of San Francisco is up on a visit to friends and relatives in this city.

John Miller and F. C. Handy returned Wednesday from a ten days' outing in Long valley.

Harry Mulson, the Fort Bragg hotel man, is stopping at the Palace. He is over on the grand jury.

J. A. Cooper of San Francisco was in town during the week engaged in the trial of the Hixon case.

Rev. W. J. Winsor has been reappointed as pastor of the local Methodist church by the late conference.

J. D. McDowell was down from Laytonville Monday. He brought a patient down for the local asylum.

G. W. Bowman, the proprietor of the Mendocino bottling works, came over Saturday to serve as a grand juror.

George Lammers, a wellknown citizen of Albion and bookkeeper for the mill company at that place, is over on a visit.

Rev. J. L. Burchard has been returned to the Indian missionary field in this county by the Methodist conference.

The Gualala mill shut down last Monday week on account of the death of Mrs. W. B. Heywood, wife of the superintendent.

John A. Rhodes and Miss Lynne Gibson, both of this city, were married by Rev. G. H. C. Shropshire at his residence Wednesday morning.

E. M. Kister of Talmage, the popular nominee for coroner and public administrator, left yesterday on an electioneering tour of some of the interior towns.

Miss Flora Van Allen has accepted the position as teacher of the Albion school, vice John Hodghead, resigned. Mr. Hodghead contemplates going east to live.

Orrin Howell, proprietor of Duncan springs, was in town Saturday. Mr. Howell had a very prosperous season at his popular resort, which is yearly growing in public favor.

Mannie Young, J. R. Thomas and Marvin Nuckolls returned Monday from a two weeks' trip to southern Trinity. They secured enough venison to last until the next open season.

Guy Mason captured a yearling rattlesnake while on his recent trip to Trinity county. He has the little rattler quite tame and has it on exhibition in his father's hardware store.

The grand jury has dismissed the charge of murder preferred against Court Barker by the authorities of Round valley. Barker is the gentleman who set the trap gun the discharge of which resulted in the death of A. Blanc last week.

L. G. Morse of Point Arena, who has been at Burke's sanitarium for some time past, was in town Wednesday. Mr. Morse intends leaving Point Arena shortly, the strain of its associations and the bitter memories connected with his recent misfortune there having induced him to leave his old home. His business, however, will bring him to Point Arena every three or six months.

The grand jury, which has been in session during the week, will no doubt adjourn tomorrow. The report of the experts employed by the grand jury will not be ready for submission until about the middle of the coming month.

Louie Rosenberg returned Wednesday from San Francisco. He went down to purchase a fall and winter stock of goods. He was very successful, and came back with an assortment of eastern and imported goods that will astonish the natives.

Young Hixon, who was charged by Silas Craddock of Hopland with having appropriated money buried by the latter, had his trial the early part of the week. The amount involved was about $3200. The jury failed to agree and was dismissed. The case will be retried.

The trial of J. B. Smith for the alleged murder of R. H. Campbell nearly a year ago, resulted in an acquittal. The case for the people was splendidly presented by District Attorney Sturtevant and Thomas Rhodes, but after being out twenty hours the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

One of the most elegant affairs of the season was the reception given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Smith Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Eastman, who will leave shortly for her new home in Alameda. The Ladies' Choral society, of which Mrs. Eastman was the leader, gave several musical selections, and thus in music and gay conversation the evening passed all too quickly. Mrs. Eastman is a vocalist of rare ability, and her sweet womanly ways have won her a host of friends who regret exceedingly her departure. The host and hostess entertained in their usual inimitable manner. Great taste was displayed in the floral arrangements of the dining-room, where a delicious supper was served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Carothers, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jamison, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Rea and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Donohoe, Mmes McGarvey and Sweasey, and Messrs Tom Forse and Gardy Gibson.

Law Governing Registration.

Judge Prewett of Auburn has just rendered an important decision relative to the registration of voters. It was a test case tried in Napa county. The law was rather misty on the point as to when registration should close. Judge Prewett has ruled that in counties where a complete new registration is made it must close eighty-five days before election; but where only supplementary registration is being made voters may be registered up to fifteen days before election. Under this decision registration in this county will not close until October 13. This decision does not interfere with the provision requiring that voters who are already registered but wish to transfer from one precinct to another may do so not later than thirty days before election. Judge Prewett's decision materially alters the complexion of affairs in Mendocino county relative to registration. In accordance with an opinion rendered by District Attorney Sturtevant registration was closed in this county August 15, since which time no names have been placed on the register. It has been decided, however, to follow the decision handed down by Judge Prewett, and registration has been reopened and will continue until October 13.

Maguire's Literary Record.

J. Gallagher Maguire, the Populist nominee for governor, at one time wrote a book on "Ireland and the Pope." It was criticised by The Monitor, the organ of the Catholic church of this state, as follows: Had this book been written by an open and avowed Orangeman, an anti-Catholic Calvanist, or an ex-priest who had turned Presbyterian, its pope slandering contents and its many misleading and malicious statements, would not have astonished us in the least, but, being, as it is, the work of an author who was born, baptized and brought up in the Catholic church, and whose position on the bench implies a decent respect for all authority, both civil and ecclesiastical, then indeed our wonder is excited that James G. Maguire could sully his Catholic soul and soil the ermine of his high judicial position, by placing his name and official designation upon the title page of a book that is beneath criticism as a literary production, and which can confer no honor upon either the literary or the judicial reputation of the gentleman who generated it.

FREAKS OF FORTUNE.

A WEEKLY RECORD OF REMARKABLE EVENTS.

Preserved by Veracious Chroniclers for Entertainment at the Fireside—Peculiar Occurrences Briefly Epitomized for Busy Readers.

Charles Oppenlander, who lives about three miles west of Comptche, had a very narrow escape from death Thursday evening last. Mr. Oppenlander was returning to his home from this city. He was driving a four-horse team, and when about a mile this side of his home one of the wagon wheels ran upon a stump in the road, and he was thrown violently to the bottom of the ravine along which the road ran. Mr. Oppenlander landed upon his head at the bottom of the gulch, and was rendered unconscious by the fall. Cas Tindall was driving a team some distance behind Mr. Oppenlander, and when he arrived at the scene of the accident he jumped from his wagon in order to ascertain the cause of the difficulty. He found Mr. Oppenlander suffering from the shock of the fall as well as from a severe sprain of the ankle. Mr. Tindall placed his companion upon the seat of his wagon, and then ran to Mr. Oppenlander's house in order to secure a lantern, as the night was dark. When he returned he found that during his absence Mr. Oppenlander had fainted and that both teams had ran away. The tongues had been broken out of both wagons, and one of Mr. Oppenlanders horses had been so badly injured that it was deemed necessary to shoot it in order to prevent its suffering. Mr. Oppenlander was taken to his home, in a very dangerous condition, THE PRESS is pleased to learn, however, that he is getting along nicely.

A Flying Deer.

D. E. Hotell, foreman of the Marks ranch, eight miles west of this city, met with a startling adventure Saturday last. Together with a neighbor he was riding over the range in search of stock. His companion was riding down a steep, rocky ridge, Hotell having taken the opposite side of the divide. The vaquero while riding along the trail jumped two fine bucks. One of the animals ran along the trail while the other sprang up the hill and over the divide. Hotell heard the shouts of his companion and stopped his horse in order to ascertain the reason of the outcry. While Hotell was sitting on his horse awaiting developments the deer sprang over the divide and leaped directly over horse and man. Hotell says the frightened buck sprang at least twelve feet in the air. He also says that he can furnish ample corroboration of the truth of his story.

A New Illuminant.

Engineer Morris brought his locomotive up from Tiburon Tuesday evening in a blaze of glory. The headlight shone like the searchlight of a battleship. The new light that is now being introduced by the local railway is as nearly perfect as one could imagine. It is derived from lime and cake, which is placed in a perforated receptacle standing over a small water-tank. The cake exaporates the water, which in turn is converted into gas by passing through the lime. The light is greatly superior to the ordinary gas and is about 60 per cent cheaper.

The Grand Jury.

Following is a list of the gentlemen who compose the present grand jury: Samuel Pinches, Henry Mulson, G. H. Bowman, George McMullen, Frank Thompson, John Higgins, Arthur McNab, John Guntley, Robert Rawles, C. Prather (foreman), I. W. Ross, S. S. Baechtel, A. R. Davidson, A. M. Ornbaun, John Conway, Henry Hopper, W. A. Hearn, T. W. Cox, John Brown.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Redwood Bill Discusses the Beauty of the Telephone.

"I had a long chin wid de Aleck from Fish Rock de oder day, an' say, don't ye know he's not a-feelin' very first-class over de outlook. Jay Henry don't seem to hav' as much use fer him as he ust ter. Henry's bin a-thinkin' as how Aleck's purty near run out, and he isn't a-combinin' wid has-bins dis year. Aleck wuz wid de jays wat run de hoodlum organ as soon as he com to town. He was a-tryin' to get a pinter on whider de poppy crats wuz a-goin' to pull down Schiller or not. Ee Jay wuz a-givin' de boss de fin shake when I see 'em, and dey wuz both a-cussin' de Press. If Aleck can't get Schiller pulled down he don't stand no show of gettin' his fins in de taxpayers' pockets after de fust of de year, and don't you never ferget to remember it.

"I talked through dat bloomin' thing the other day," said Redwood Bill, as he pointed the stem of his corncob pipe at the telephone in THE PRESS office. "I tell ye it's a great stution. It went like dis:

Hello! Sheriff's office!

Hello! Pint Arena! What's a-wanted?

Want de sheriff.

He's over at de livery stable.

Hello! Livery stable!

Hello! Pint Arena! What's a-wanted?

Want de sheriff.

He's over at de butcher shop. Ye see Jay Henry's on de board of town trustees, and de geesers what's a-workin' fer de town hav to hav meat, and so Jay Henry's a-seein' dat Charley Pee's a-gettin' of his money.

Hello! Butcher shop!

Hello! Pint Arena! What's a-wanted?

I want to see Jay Henry. Things is a-goin' wrong over here.

Dat's all right. Duncan'll straiten things out all right when he gets back from de city. Jay Henry's gone over to see Nuck, and express on his mind dat he's got to do good work in Redwood valley and Little Lake. What's de trouble over dere, no how?

Why, you see de geesers over here is a-sayin' dat when a sheriff was appinted over dere las year you appinted yer brother, and dat when de business came up to divide de office of sheriff and tax collector dat you, an' Henry and Aleck had everythin' cut an' dried to tack on de livery stable in place of de tax office. De office of sheriff an' livery stable keeper's de best payin' one in de county. Goodbye.

"I tell ye, boss, dat's a great little instrument.

The printing of the great register was awarded to The Dispatch at 20 cents a name for 816 copies.

Sam Duncan was instructed to have the Hopland and Largo bridges repaired.

Report of Allen Davidson on Eel river bridge was examined and approved.

Henry Marks, the wellknown and popular merchant of Covelo, returned from San Francisco Wednesday and left for his home in the north the same day. Mr. Marks has been to the metropolis to purchase his fall stock of goods, and he informed a representative of THE PRESS that his consignment for this year was the largest, most select and varied ever brought to northern Mendocino.

FOSTER'S VICTORY.

THE LOCAL RAILWAY LEASED TO THE NORTHWESTERN.

The New Deal Means Non-Consolidation with the North Pacific Coast—Mr. Foster Still Retains the Presidency of the Donahue System.

By an important railroad deal, completed Tuesday, the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway company leased its line for twenty years to the California Northwestern Railway company, the consideration being the net profits of the road. All the old officers of the San Francisco and North Pacific remain in charge, having been reappointed by the Northwestern company.

H. C. Whiting, general manager, San Francisco; F. K. Zook, superintendent and chief engineer, Tiburon; R. X. Ryan, general passenger and freight agent, San Francisco; Thomas Mellersh, secretary and controller, San Francisco; George C. Hickox, cashier, San Francisco; John Bonner, master mechanic, Tiburon; George H. McMullin, train dispatcher, Tiburon; C. M. Anderson, storekeeper, Tiburon.

There will be no change in the management of the road except that all possibility of consolidation with the Stetson line is now impossible, and the troublesome litigation to gain control of the line and force consolidation will now be abandoned. The question of consolidation cannot come up again for twenty years.

The California Northwestern is a new company, the purpose of which is to build a line connecting with the North Pacific railroad at some point not yet decided upon, the object being to tap the timber belt of Mendocino county at a point not yet decided upon. The terminus of the road is still in doubt, four possible routes being under discussion. The officers of the new company are all wellknown business men. The directors are: G. Palache, president; George W. Prescott, vice-president; George A. Pope, F. A. Wickersham and J. H. Isham.

The new arrangement gives the California and Northwestern line a through connection to San Francisco, and it is also a triumph for A. W. Foster, president and general manager for the San Francisco and North Pacific line, since it prevents that consolidation with the narrow-guage line which J. B. Stetson, president of the other line, and Sydney Smith of the San Francisco and North Pacific have been trying to force.

In Fair Round Valley.

COVELO, September 20.—Charles Barnhart, the noted cattle buyer, is in our midst doing business with the ranchers.

Rube Moore is here on the same business, besides doing duty as an alarm clock, awakening the citizens with his hearty laughter on the street corners in the morning.

Jake Short is convalescent and is about town again, looking about half his former self.

Ben Hayden is back from the Klondike, fatter and wiser than when he left. How much richer he is we will report at some future time.

Dr. K. M. Lundborg is here on his regular business visit, and has purchased a pair of thoroughbreds, one from Mr. Montague and one from Mr. Hornbrook; namely, the wellknown horses, Decorate and Decoration. James O'Farrell, the noted horse trainer, has them now in hand and we predict that the doctor will have the finest buggy team in the county when they are pronounced broken by the trainer.

The wife of Court Barker gave birth to a son the morning he was taken to Ukiah by Constable Redwine. The mother and child are doing well. NIMROD.

Superior Court.

Estate of Charles Petro, deceased: Order admitting will to probate.

Eri Huggins vs His Creditors: Order for assignee to sell accounts.

Estate of J. H. Perkins, deceased: Final account of assignee allowed and settled, and order setting apart the whole of the estate for the benefit of the widow.

Andy Milne has just completed a cosy 5-room cottage for William Murphy of Tom Charlton's wood-working establishment. The residence is built on the lot south of Harry McElroy's, on State street, and is modern in every respect.

Subjects at the Christian church Sunday: Morning—The Wages of Sin Is Death; evening—No Secrets in Heaven.

Dr. Moore and family are spending a week at Orr's springs.

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

HAPPENINGS OF THE PAST FEW DAYS FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Fearful Windstorm on the Island of St. Vincent—Probable Promotion For Dewey—Secretary Alger Visiting the Military Camps.

The Sons of Veterans will hold their next annual encampment at Detroit.

Fire did $75,000 worth of damage to the business center of Tucson, A. T., Sunday.

The cattle shortage of Montana for the year 1898 will be, it is estimated, 40 per cent.

Captain Allyn Capron, First Artillery, United States Army, died at his home near Fort Myer, Va., Sunday.

The Spanish council of war has suspended Admiral Montojo and Major Soston, director of the Cadiz arsenal.

Miss Winnie Davis, daughter of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, died at Narragansett pier, R.I., Sunday, after a long illness.

Nine Americans, nine British, five Germans, three Frenchmen and two Russians have been engaged as imperial guards for the Corean emperor.

Brigadier-General Joseph T. Haskell died suddenly at his home in Columbus, O., of apoplexy. He had just finished reviewing his troops returning from Cuba, and the excitement is supposed to have caused the stroke.

Secretary Alger left Detroit Sunday on his inspection tour of southern camps and hospitals. The camps to be inspected are at Fort Thomas, Lexington, Knoxville, Chickamauga, Anniston, probably Huntsville and Jacksonville and Charleston. Secretary Alger expects to reach Washington a week from next Wednesday.

Commodore Watson has been ordered to proceed in the Newark to Port Antonio, and there take the steamer for New York. He will soon leave to assume command of the Mare Island navy yard, in succession to the late Rear-Admiral Kirkland.

Captain Evans has, at his own request, been detached from the battleship Iowa. He will be assigned to membership on the board of inspection and survey. Captain Silas Terry has been given the command of the Iowa.

The York block, a three-story apartment house at Butte, Mont., collapsed a few days ago. The building was filled with people at the time, but none were killed, and only a few seriously injured.

Secretary Long is expected to make special reference in his annual report to the operations of the Asiatic squadron and particularly to the conduct of Rear-Admiral Dewey No surprise would be expressed if the secretary were to recommend that the grade of vice-admiral be created in order that it might be filled by the appointment of Rear-Admiral Dewey.

The cabinet was in session an hour Friday, Secretary Alger being the only absentee. Secretary Day tendered the president his resignation as secretary of state, and took leave of his cabinet associates. Assistant Secretary Moore of the state department, also tendered his resignation to the president.

Secretary Long assigned Commodore Albert Kautz, at present in command of the naval training station at Newport, to command the Pacific station in place of Rear-Admiral Miller, who is to retire in the course of a few weeks, being the senior rear-admiral of the navy. Rear-Admiral Miller is now at Honolulu, and Commodore Kautz has been directed to take the steamer from San Francisco for that place early in October.

The preparations for the embarkation of the Spanish troops now at Porto Rico are reported to be complete, although the American commissioners have not been officially advised to that effect. Two ships of the Compania Transatlantica are expected to arrive on the 26th instant. Five vessels will be required to transport all the luggage and field artillery and equipment. The Porto Rican troops are to be landed near Cadiz.

It is understood that President M'Kinley has decided to offer the post of embassador to the court of St. James, made vacant by the appointment of Mr. Hay as secretary of state, to Senator Hoar. The president is very anxious to have him except the post. He thinks that Mr. Hoar would maintain the lofty standard established at that court by such embassadors as Lowell and Bayard.

The island of St. Vincent, West Indies, has experienced the most violent and destructive cyclone ever known there. Kingston, the capital of St. Vincent, is totally destroyed. It is estimated that 300 lives have been lost in that island, and that 2500 people are homeless. The bodies of the dead are being buried in trenches. Thousands are starving or being fed at the public expense. The amount of property destroyed in St. Vincent cannot yet be estimated. Every small house is down and many large ones have been destroyed. The demolished buildings includes churches, stores, and almost all the state buildings. Three large ships are ashore on the windward coast, and many smaller vessels are stranded.

Mount Vesuvius, Italy, is now presenting the grandest spectacle since 1872, due to a violent outburst of activity. The central crater and a number of new mouths are vomiting lava and ashes. The imposing streams are flowing down the mountain's side, burying the chestnut woods at the base of Monte Somma, nearly reaching the observatory, destroying part of the funicular railroad leading thereto, and threatening the barracks of the Carbineers.

Up to this time the amount of the new government bond issue is $123,870,640. Of this amount $101,175,888 have been shipped to subscribers; $12,061,290 have been deposited to secure circulating national bank notes, and $10,633,500 to secure public deposits.

Major Esterhazy, who is now in London, is about to make a full confession of his connection with the plot to disgrace Dreyfus. As he admits that he cannot return to France, it is evident the part he took involves serious consequences. He recently said: "You want to know whether my disclosure will clear Dreyfus? I answer that out of the thousand documents making up the Dreyfus dossier (papers in the case), I know that 600 are forged. I am prepared to show by whom and under what circumstances these forgeries were committed."

A dispatch from Candia, Isle of Crete, says: The sultan has ordered Djevad Pasha, the military commander in Crete, to accede to the demand of the British admiral, Henry Noel, for disarmament, thus complying with the whole ultimatum of the admiral. A British military detachment occupied the entrance to the fort, and it is rumored that the Ottoman troops will be withdrawn and a British force will occupy the town. Among the prisoners already handed over to Admiral Noel are two who are credited with being the ringleaders in the attack on the British camp, and causing the riots two weeks ago.

The administration has abandoned its plan of mobilizing a large force of troops in Hawaii for use in the Philippines in case of an emergency. The change of plan was brought about by the latest advices from Manila, which are of so hopeful and confident a nature that the government believes that no more troops will be needed in the islands.

As the result of an attempt of twenty-two non-union men to enter the gates of the American Wire company at Cleveland, O., where a strike has been on for some time past, a fight took place between the strikers and the non-union workmen, and a number of men were severely bruised and cut.

The tax levies of some of the counties of California, per $100, is as follows: Sonoma, $1.45; Sutter, $1.50; Monterey, $2; Santa Clara, $1.10 inside property, $1.40 outside property; Los Angeles, $1.33⅓ inside property, $1.73⅓ outside property; San Diego, $1.55 inside property, $1.95 outside property; San Francisco, $1.80.

The stage running between San Rafael and Bolinas was held up Monday by a lone highwayman, and the seven passengers compelled to hand over their money and valuables. The matter was promptly reported to the sheriff, who shortly afterward arrested Victor Colwell. Colwell has admitted his guilt.

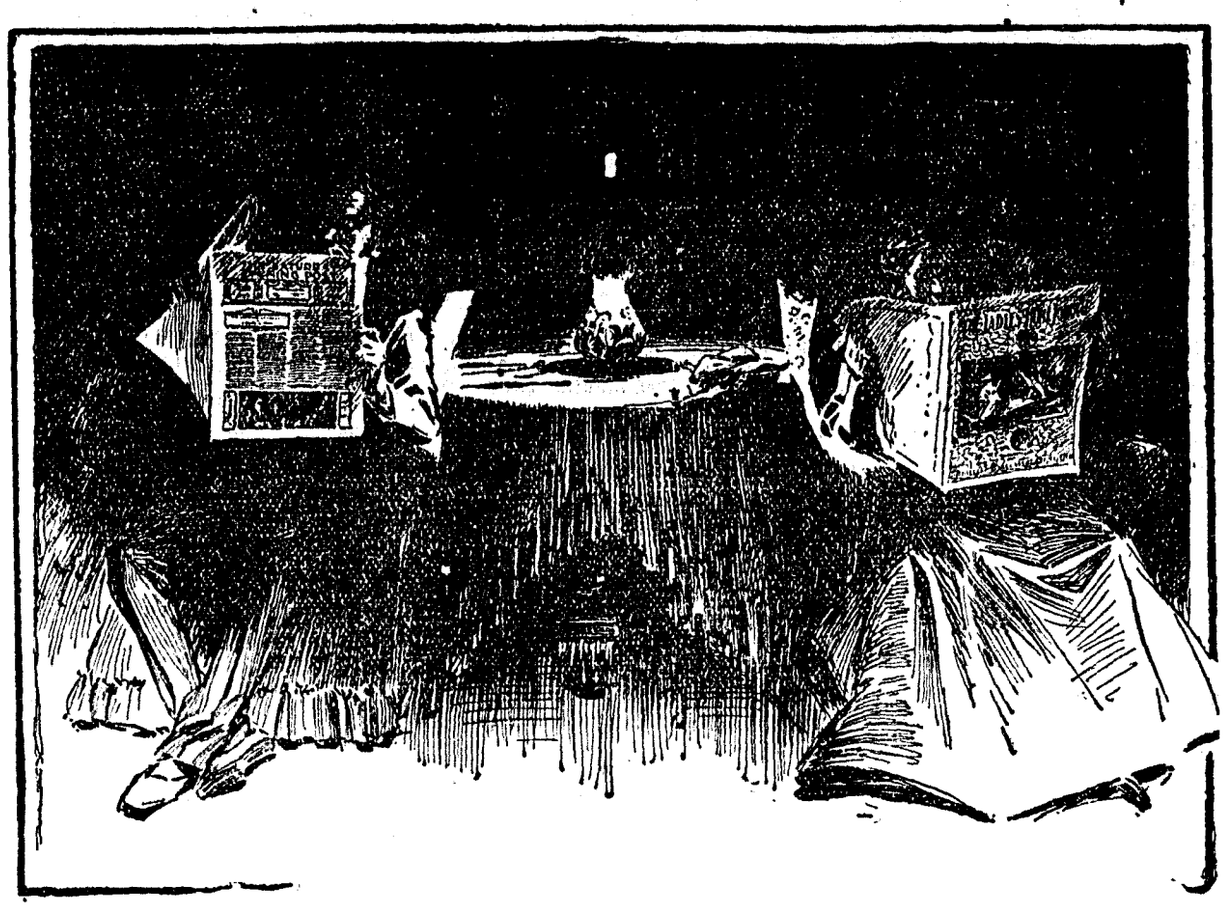
Count Cassini, the Russian embassador to the United States, in a recent interview said: "There has been absolutely no change in Russian sentiment or policy toward the United States, nor does there exist a reason for such a change within my knowledge. Russian policy does not conflict with the interests of the United States in any part of the world, no more in China than in England. Russia seeks only peaceful and friendly relations with all the other nations."

The incorporation of the new company, which is being formed for the purpose of constructing a line of railroad from Bakersfield southward through the Tehachapi mountains to a point on the line of the Santa Fe Pacific railroad, is expected to be accomplished before the end of the present week. The articles of incorporation of the new company and all the legal documents required in the work of perfecting the organization are now being drawn up, and the corporation papers will, in all probability, be filed with the secretary of state at Sacramento within a few days.

A premature explosion in the Mary Harrison mine, at Coulterville, killed G. H. Warne and John Skewes, miners, and Emanuel Felice, carman.

The battalion composed of companies D, G, H, and I, Eighth California volunteers, Lieutenant-Colonel F. de L. Carrington commanding, arrived at Vancouver barracks from San Francisco a few days ago and went into camp on the government strip, where they will remain until the barracks now occupied by the independent battallion of Washington volunteer infantry, Battery A, Oregon volunteers, are vacated, which will be in about a month.

Till recent years the largest body of fresh water wholly within the United States limits was Tulare lake, Cal. Irrigation, etc., gradually reduced its limits, and this year the lake is entirely dried up. A land district has been formed in Tulare and it is expected that 30,000 acres of the old lake bed will be converted into tillable land. A levee is to be built 13 miles long, costing $7000. Wells will be bored to furnish water for irrigation. It is said that all the space left by the lake's disappearance has been appropriated, so that there will be no room for a stampede. The work of reclaiming will cost some money, but for this purpose a share of the purchase price is available; it is claimed the State's price of $2.50 an acre has been cut to 50 cents, which goes into the State school fund. The claimants of the tract have paid in their assessments to complete the levee.



IN THE OCTOBER LADIES' HOME JOURNAL

Mrs. Caroline Atwater Mason, author of "A Minister of the World," begins a new story called "THE MINISTER OF CARTHAGE," depicting a young clergyman's high sense of duty battling with love and something akin to ambition.

Josiah Allen's Wife

Has written another story for the JOURNAL readers. She tells in it about a sickly society girl, and what brought her to her senses and good health.

In Mary E. Wilkins'

Capital new story a metropolitan woman does some very funny things, and in trying to elevate the villagers she learns a thing or two.

Irish Relations.

A curious peculiarity of the Irish nature is the wide limits to which relationship is extended. "Do you know Pat Meehan?" a peasant was asked. "Of course I do," was the answer. "Why, he's a near relative of mine. He wance proposed for my sisther Kate."

When faction fighting was rife in Ireland, it was a man's interest to "inc'rase his followin" by extending the number of his relatives by every possible device. Happily faction fighting is dead in Ireland, and a man has no need now to have behind him a long line not of "ancestors," as Sir Boyle Roche would say, but of "relations," as was imperatively necessary when the "bhoys" were accustomed to "hould discussion with sticks" at every fair. It is after he is dead that his relatives "come in handy" to the Irishman. They give him a "grand buryin."

"Well, Mary," said a friend of mine to a domestic who had been attending a "buryin," "had Mat Maloney a good funeral?" "Oh, he had a grate wan, sir," said Mary. "An why wouldn't he? Wasn't he related to the whole of the barony? Faith, it reminded me of a land l'ague meetin."—Letter in London Spectator.

A Mean Insinuation.

Two ministers were discussing the attendance of their parishioners at worship. One was bemoaning the indifference of the people to the church, complaining bitterly of lack of attendance at nearly all the churches in the city. It mattered not how well the sermons were delivered—the people still declined to attend.

"I venture to state," said one, "if I were to advertise that two monkeys would perform in my pulpit next Sunday evening the church would be crowded."

"Yes," replied the other reflectively. "Two would be better than one."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

How Spain Paid Columbus.

A curious discovery has been made in the archives of the Spanish navy—the bills of payment of the crews who composed the caravels of Christopher Columbus. The sailors, according to their class, received from 10 to 12 francs a month, including their food. The captains of the three large caravels had each 80 francs a month. As for Columbus himself, who had the title of admiral, he was paid 1,600 francs a year.

The Humidity Meter.

The amount of moisture present or the humidity of the air is determined by a comparison of dry and wet bulb thermometers. They are both ordinary thermometers, but the bulb of the latter is covered with muslin that is wet. In the latest form of instrument the thermometers are mounted on arms carried by a shaft that is rotated by a crank which is geared to the shaft. The motion of the shaft rotates the thermometers in vertical planes and causes the water in the muslin to evaporate more or less rapidly, according to the amount of moisture in the air. This evaporation lowers the temperature of the thermometer, and from tables constructed after long experiments the degree of moisture can be determined by the difference in temperature between the two thermometers.—E. J. Prindle in Popular Science.

Washing In Hard Water.

It is difficult to wash our hands clean with hard water, because the soda of the soap combines with the sulphuric acid of the hard water and the oil of the soap with the lime and floats in flakes on the top of the water. Sulphate of lime consists of sulphuric acid and lime. It is difficult to wash in salt water because it contains muriatic acid, and the soda of soap combines with the muriatic acid of the salt water and produces a cloudiness.

He Knew Later.

"It is a pretty name," the impressionable traveler murmured. "But tell me, why do they call you Manita?"

There was an arch smile on the savage maiden's face.

"Evidently," she said, as she signaled to her brothers, who were concealed in the bush with clubs, "you do not know our favorite food."—Harlem Life.

Pigtails Popular.

Twenty-five and 30 will masquerade as "sweet 16" and "bread and butter 14" this summer. You will hardly credit this, but it is nevertheless the fact. In "pigtails," "Gretchen braids," whatever you please to call them, but sure enough braids—two of them, falling down the back—the modern girl is to appear from now on in the country in the mornings.

Of course after lunch she will put up her hair in the most proper and precise coiffure.

What is accomplished by wearing the hair in long braids is that it is given what is known as a "rest." Hair experts have now developed the theory that a good rest about once a year is what a head of hair needs.—New York Herald.

Women In Relief Work.

The efforts of the various relief organizations that have been formed among women's clubs are confined to the most practical methods. It is significant of the experience of the women at organized work that they have undertaken these measures in such a promptly efficient fashion. Cool headed women, accustomed to committee work, have brought quick order out of apparent chaos in the embarrassment of volunteer service, and a prompt, discriminating judgment has rapidly produced tangible results. The impractical woman who has occasionally presented herself has been quickly suppressed, and the work in all its phases has gone ahead with most commendable dispatch and efficiency.—New York Post.

China Silk Coats.

Tucked into a silk reticule no bigger than the bag that holds her bath sponge the smart traveler carries her new and improved waterproof coat. It is made of a taffeta impervious to water or a perfectly soft Chinese silk that is treated so that it is as water tight as a gutta percha bowl. Patterned exactly on the form of a mendicant monk's brown robe, the silk rain coat covers the wearer from neck to heels and is the coolest, lightest protector yet invented. The sleeves fall away from the wrist or can be buttoned tightly about the hand, and a hood at the back can be drawn up to protect without in the least crushing the most fragile hat.

NEW ORLEANS POLITENESS.

Eight Men Help a Stranger to Find a House at Night.

"I was given a good example of southern politeness the other night," said a gentleman from the north. "I had gone to the Comas ball and had agreed to escort a lady home. She was also a stranger in the city and was stopping with some friends on Bourbon street, about three blocks the other side of the opera house. As it was only a short distance we decided to walk. I was of course totally unacquainted with the street and when we left the lights of the opera house I felt very much at sea. The houses were dark and I could not see the numbers, and it was only by the number that the lady could identify her boarding place, as she had only been there once.

"Ahead of me was a small man. I asked him if he knew where the number was. He answered very politely that he did not, but was going that way and would help me hunt. He told another man in front of him about it, and that man told some of his friends. In a few minutes the gentlemen had formed an advance guard in our interest. We walked calmly behind while they went in front, on either side of the street, striking matches and looking for the number. There were eight of them, and their matches would go off one after the other. It was a regular flambeau parade. I was overcome. 'Here it is,' shouted an advance scout.

"We approached the house rapidly and found the eight gentlemen standing before it. It was almost with emotion that I raised my hat and thanked them for their efforts. 'Nothing at all,' they said politely, and the entire eight raised their hats and walked into the darkness."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Those terrible dizzy spells to which women are subject are due nine times in ten to some weakness or unhealthy condition of the distinctly feminine organism. The average doctor in general practice does not half realize this. He prescribes some superficial treatment for headache or dyspepsia or liver trouble without suspecting the real cause of the difficulty.

A woman usually understands what is the trouble but is loath to undergo the mortifying and generally useless "examinations" and "local applications" on which the local practitioner is almost sure to insist. But there is a far more sensible alternative: Any woman afflicted with a delicate weakness of this nature should seek the aid of that marvelous "Favorite Prescription" invented by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y.

In any case so obstinate as not to be promptly cured by this great "Prescription" special advice for inexpensive home-treatment adapted to the individual case, will be sent by Dr. Pierce to any one who will address him by mail. All letters are treated with the strictest privacy and never printed except by the writer's special request. Cases intrusted to his care are in the hands of one who has a lifetime's experience and who stands among the most eminent of living specialists in this particular field of practice.

Every woman should possess a copy of Dr. Pierce's famous thousand-page illustrated volume, the Common Sense Medical Adviser which has had a larger sale than any medical book in any language. A paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., or send 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. A whole medical library in one 1000-page volume.

Military Courage.

The question of the comparative proportion of really brave men in any army will probably never be determined. Great officers on the continent keep their knowledge on that subject rigorously as a professional secret and assume as a certainty that all soldiers are brave. They know very well, however, that they are not, and when confidential will admit, as Marshal von Moltke once did in public, that with a great number it takes discipline, and severe discipline, too, to induce them to face shells unshrinkingly. American officers have been known to acknowledge that of their men, who are as brave as any in the world, 20 per cent would run away if they could, and in every army, even ours, which a man enters only of free will, there is a certain proportion who literally cannot overcome their fears. They are stricken with a sort of paralysis. The proportion is probably not high in any army, the majority, if in health, being able to do their duty and having intense motives to do it, but neither is the proportion high of those who literally feel no fear.—London Spectator.

A Cyclists' Paradise.

Cyclists in rural France are well catered for in delightful little countrified cafes, with open air tables often set in an arbor of evergreens. A franc and a half or two will get you a perfection of an omelet, a plate of stewed wild rabbit, soft cheese, wine and black coffee, and for an extra 4 sous or so the waitress, if the wheelman is ungallant enough to let her do it, will inflate his tires, the merest "marchand de vins" being nowadays the proud possessor of a standard pump.—Caterer.

Warships were originally distinguished from merchantmen by their greater size. Now this distinction does not obtain, and the war vessel is of a totally different construction.

An elephant can carry about three tons on its back.

Chairman of the Cigar Company.

Two small boys, walking down Tottenham Court road, passed a tobacconist's shop. The bigger remarked, "I say, Bill, I've got a ha'penny, and if you've got one, too, we'll have a penny smoke between us."

Bill produced his copper, and Tommy, diving into the shop, promptly reappeared with a penny cigar in his mouth. The boys walked side by side for a few minutes, when the smaller mildly said: "I say, Tom, when am I to have a puff? The weed's half mine."

"Oh, you shut up!" was the businesslike reply. "I'm the chairman of this company, and you are only a shareholder. You can spit."—"Collections and Recollections."

On the Safe Side.

Green—I suspect that Gray is making lots of money. He is promoting that concern for the manufacture of left handed wheelbarrows.

Black—Pshaw! A man never gets back the money he puts into such things as that.

Green—Just so. Gray doesn't own any of the stock himself.—Boston Transcript.

A Proper Answer.

"Why," he asked once when they were quite alone and the twilight was deepening into night, "do women always cry at weddings?"

The look of withering disdain she gave him gradually softened as pity took possession of her heart.

"Because," she finally answered, not unkindly.—Detroit Journal.

In Epping Forest.

Mr. P. Anderson Graham, in Longman's Magazine, mentions the regrettable fact that all but the commonest wild flowers are disappearing from Epping Forest. Not only do the urchins pluck them, but the venders who go about the suburbs offering roots and flowers for sale carry them off wholesale. The primrose has in this way been practically cleared out of the forest, so has the once common Solomon's seal, and the foxglove and others are very nearly extinct. If the anemones, bluebells and violets still survive, it is only owing to the fact that they grow in such astonishing numbers that the armfuls carried away make no difference.

The most obviously thriving and multiplying quadrupeds in the forest, Mr. Graham mentions, are the rabbit and the squirrel. Hares occasionally make their form in the heather or fern. The small carnivora are as plentiful as might be expected where vermin are protected as much as game. Stoats and weasels are the most common. So far the rarer marten and polecat have not been tempted back to their old haunts. Foxes are occasionally to be seen. Mr. Buxton introduced a few pairs of badgers 10 or 12 years ago, and they have bred and prospered. Rats, mice, moles and "such small deer" have a happy time of it in the woods.

He Knew Him.

Boy—Mr. Smitters wants to know if you'll lend him an umbrella. He says you know him.

"You may say that I do know him. He will probably understand why you didn't bring the umbrella."

ADAM

Didn't take a newspaper, didn't use stationery, and wore fig leaves. He was the only pebble on the beach then, but Adam is dead. If you want to be up-to-date you must take a county newspaper and use good stationery.

LIVE AND LET LIVE

A MAN is judged by the company he keeps. So is a business man judged by his stationery. If you print your own envelopes, etc., and use a rubber stamp, people are very apt to think you are a cheap man.

YOU can also get a grade of printing equally as poor as rubber stamp work. It is turned out by inexperienced hands who never saw the inside of a ligitimate printing office. You can get this work cheap. It is cheap.

WHEN you are having printing done why not get the best, it is the cheapest in the long run. An artistic job will do more work than a dozen poor ones. No business house would send out a shabby salesman to represent it and you can't afford to have shabby stationery.

FURTHER, when you decide to get your printing done don't send to some cheap joint in San Francisco. Give your home printer a chance. The printer is a generous man and spends his money at home.

NOW, look at it the other way. Suppose the printer would send below for his groceries, hardware, etc. Wouldn't you roar? Well, we guess yes. Do as you would be done by. Give us a chance to do your printing. We don't do cheap work but it is good work.
